LEGENDS:

Type: Movies (M) or Television (T)

Gender: Male (M) or Female (F)

Category: Press agent (PA) or Business-Private-Publicist (B) or Government-Politics (G) or Military-Police (M)

Evaluation Definitions and Descriptions:

Very Positive (VP) – A public relations practitioner who is a heroic character. This is the PR man or woman who is “confident, poised, capable, responsible, bright, reliable, efficient, imaginative, well-read, personable and trusted.” These PR men and woman are accomplished practitioners who are “good at their jobs and love what they do.” They often puts their job or even their life at risk to do the right thing.

Positive (P) – A PR practitioner who tries to do his or her job without hurting anyone; basically a person trying to do the right thing, but often frustrated by the system. They are skilled, but often “unhappy with their jobs,” unfulfilled, upset, discontented, tired, irritated, disturbed by either the profession or their particular situation or life in general. In some instances, the PR practitioner is played for comic relief or is a lovable character, “effervescent, jovial, lively, mild and chipper.” Sometimes this PR man or woman is an outsider, isolated, and “unable to fit in with coworkers … ill at ease, naïve, pathetic, a nun in a whorehouse, a lamb among wolves, a eunuch in a harem.”

Negative (N) – A PR practitioner will do anything to help his or her client and doesn’t care much about the public; basically a person who doesn’t care about doing the right thing, but will do whatever is necessary to keep his job, even if his/her actions are unethical. These are what Karen Miller calls money-minded practitioners “who think about their jobs from only a financial standpoint; they are shrewd, cheap and have commercial minds.” They are usually manipulative and will lie, cheat, and do whatever it takes to advance their careers. This PR practitioner is “a wheeler-dealer with a supple conscience — a shark or a snake who is ruthless, deceptive and predatory.” In milder cases, they are simply obsequious and “guided by whatever they think will satisfy their employers.”

Very Negative (VN) – A PR practitioner who is engaged in unethical and often unlawful activities, serving the client at all costs, even committing murder or serious crimes. They are manipulative and cynical, “sarcastic, edgy, angry, contemptuous and driven.” The men are usually alcoholic womanizers who treat everyone with scorn. The women will do whatever it takes to get what they want, from sleeping their way to the top to killing off the competition. Sometimes, the individual is just a morally corrupt person who does very little public relations but is labeled as a public relations practitioner.

Neutral – Nondescript character who is simply there as a PR practitioner doing his or her job without offending anyone. He or she often is in the background and figures slightly in the plot or action of the film or television program.
